The number seriously injured is reported as follows from Texas points: Eagle Lake, 1; Bay City, 15.

Bay Shore, considerable property damage.

Lives and Property Storm's Toll.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 23.—The West Indian hurricane which swept from one end of the Texas Gulf Coast to other Wednesday claimed a toll of a dozen or more human lives, fatally injuring four others and seriously wounding sixteen, according to the details of the storm, which began to arrive here late yesterday and last night. Whole towns were devastated and the wreck and ruin to property will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The dead are:

At Eagle Lake, ——— Schafner.

At Bay City, three children, names unknown.

At El Campo, a Mexican, name unknown.

At Palacios, four, names unknown.

At Wharton, one negro.

At Kendleton, section foreman.

At Ramsey, farmer, name unknown.

Fatally injured:

At Palacios, Mrs. Hogan and one daughter.

The seriously injured:

An Indian at Eagle Lake, and fifteen persons at Bay City.

Trains from twelve to fifteen hours late crept into Houston yesterday and freight trains are lost through the stricken district.

The details of the disaster on the Southwest Coast of Texas are meagre as wires were stripped from the poles and every communication is impossible.

New Potatoes on Market.

New sweet potatoes have made their appearance in the Gainesville market. This is rather early for the crop, considering the dry weather experienced in the early spring, but the stock shown here is of the desirable size and look to be of an excellent grade. A number of the stores have them.

Several Are Arrested for Alleged Selling Near-Beer

TALLAHASSEE, July 23.—J. J. Bird, proprietor of Lanark Inn, and several employes of the hostelry were arrested Tuesday on a charge of selling "near-beer" to excursionists and other persons visiting Lanark-on-the-Gulf, a seaside resort on the Georgia, Florida and Alabama railroad, near the southern terminus. The trial is set for next Monday at Apalachicola. A bottle of the so-called "near-beer" was brought to the laboratory of the Florida State chemist for analysis, and was found to contain five and one-tenth percent.

Lanark Inn is owned by the Lanark Improvement Company, and leased to the Georgia, Florida and Gulf railway for a term of twenty years. This

Neely & Simmons, of Tennessee, are the company's attorneys and they are much chagrined that beer selling should have been carried on by any of the company's employees so successfully and quietly as not to have come under their notice and consequent ban, especially in time to have prevented the outrageous conduct of certain excursionists last Sunday, who were loaded up with this drink possibly combined with blind tiger whiskey. These persons contrived to make themselves a menace to the lives of a large crowd of men, women and children on board Sunday's train on the return trip from Lanark, by an indiscriminate flourishing of

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE MAY KILL OUT NEAR-BEER

House Temperance Committee Unanimously Votes to Report Favorably Upon Such a Bill.

ATLANTA, July 23.—The House Temperance Committee yesterday afternoon unanimously voted to report favorably a bill by Mr. Alexander of DeKalb, outlawing near-beer and making it illegal to sell as a beverage in this State any article which contained any alcohol whatsoever.

A strong fight was made in the committee. Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church of Atlanta, appeared and reminded the members that Governor Brown had promised the people of the State that he would veto any change in the prohibition law of 1907. He declared this promise was made to all the people and he did not feel that he could morally afford to urge the Governor to approve an act the prohibitionists wanted and still hold him to his promise in case the anti-prohibitionists countered by proposing a measure lessening the force of the prohibition law.

Both Mr. Wright of Floyd and Alexander of DeKalb denounced recent decisions of the Court of Appeals in liquor cases as being a perversion of the plain intent of the law, said further legislation was needed to correct the influence of these decisions.

Mr. Anderson of Chatham made a strong appeal for the present law to be retained and cautioned the members against rushing forward too quickly in advance of the crystallizing public sentiment.

After a session lasting seven hours the committee finally unanimously voted to report the measure.

Bradford Sheriff on Trail of Escaped Murderer

Lottie Spells, a colored woman who was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Dekle last Monday and held to appear before the fall term of the circuit court for selling whiskey, and had to go to jail in default of a $500 bond, told Sheriff Langford that if he would set her free she would help him capture a murderer for whom a large reward was offered, says The Starke Telegraph. The man in question was Henry Wilson, a negro, who two years ago, killed Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nix, of Pasco county, when he tried to arrest him. The State, Pasco county and the father of the murdered man offer rewards aggregating $1,025 for Wilson's capture. Sheriff Langford hunted up a description of Wilson and questioned the woman closely. Her description tallied so well with the one given by the Pasco county authorities he became confident the woman knew the man. Mr. Langford pronounced that he would pay the woman's reward if she could find Wilson for him. Newberry being the place to look for him, Mr. Langford, accompanied by Lottie, left for that place Friday morning. They spent Friday there, going from one phosphate mine to another, inspecting the hills but Wilson was not there. On inquiry among the mine superintendents Mr. Langford found two said that a man answering that description had been there two days before. He thinks it probable that negro will return there soon and made arrangements to have him turned if he comes.

clay having been previously arched with a road machine. The Governor learned that in all this black-jack country there were pockets, here and there, for clay. The location of this clay can be determined by the growth. The leaf of the ordinary black-jack is long and more or less angular. Where there is a pocket of clay there will be found a few scattered, round-leaf black-jacks. There is also to be found a little running briar, bearing dark green leaves. These indications show a pocket of clay with two or three feet of the surface. The Governor is satisfied that these pockets of clay exist in similar conditions throughout Florida.

Gypsey Mothers Use Children as Shields in Battle

NEW YORK, July 23.—A pitched battle was fought in Brooklyn yesterday between immigration inspectors and a band of twenty-four Gypsies who were being deported to South America. The trouble had its origin in the refusal of the Gypsies to board the steamer Verdi, which was to take them to Buenos Ayres.

In the heat of the melee several children of the band were injured when their parents used them as shields. In several instances the parents pushed the bodies of children steamer. One little girl was unconscious when the vessel sailed with the Gypsies.

The Gypsies believed they were to be returned to Russia, their home, and when they realized that they must go back to South America, which country they had just left, their rage knew no bounds.

The women fought with more fury than the men. One ragged dame used an iron camp kettle whenever she got within reach of a hostile head.

When the Verdi sailed her unwilling passengers were bundled into

ATTORNEYS STOP THE EXECUTION OF OWEN

WRIT OF ERROR ACCOMPLISHED
THE DESIRED END FRIDAY.

Prisoner Was Confident That He Would Not Hang and So Stated to Fellow-Prisoners.

R. H. Owen, twice sentenced to death for the killing of R. L. Smith near Jonesville last winter, has again been granted a stay of execution by the prompt action of his attorneys, Cols. W. S. Broome and W. E. Baker, who sued out the writ of error, which stopped the proceedings.

The writ is made returnable on October 19th, and if the man is finally hung, it will occur about the latter part of November or the first part of December, which will be as early as the matter can be arranged as it now stands.

This will give the prisoner ample time to prepare himself for his future, if he is to hang, but a strong effort will still be made to have his sentence changed to life imprisonment.

The following message was received by Sheriff Ramsey from Governor Gilchrist yesterday morning after the sheriff had arranged the trap rope for the execution right in sight of the prisoner:

"P. G. Ramsey, Sheriff—Writ of error having been issued, you will not execute death warrant upon R. H. Owen, but return warrant to me. Wire acknowledgement upon receipt of this. ALBERT W. GILCHRIST,
"Governor."

Owen stood by the bars within a few feet of where the trap was being arranged and the rope made ready for his execution, and while the sheriff was engaged in his work he repeatedly stated that the officer was going to all of that trouble for nothing, as he would never hang.

Wife No. 2 was here yesterday from Ocala, having come up with two of Owen's sons, and was accompanied by three young ladies, whose names we did not learn, to witness the execution. She stated that so far as she knew Owen had been married only three times instead of four, as was stated in yesterday's paper.

Had this execution occurred here yesterday it would have been the first legal white hanging ever witnessed in this city and the second one that has ever been known to have occurred in the county. Some of the oldest residents state that one white hanging took place at Newnanville some seventy years ago, but there is no record of it in the court house now.

Col. Rivers was seen in the afternoon and stated that the writ only amounted to a stay of execution for Owen until a later date. He said that the court had made a special order in the case, allowing sixty days in which to file the bill of exceptions. The time that had elapsed was nearly double that, and consequently there was no exceptions to anything that was done in the trial, and that the minutes would be taken before the Supreme Court, but the only result would be the stay of execution until this court had looked over the case.

GOV. GILCHRIST TELLS OF RECENT TRIP EAST

Gilchrist invited attention to the contrast between the policy of the Republican party and the Democratic party in treating their respective allies. Years ago, during the Tweed regime in New York City, there was much scandal, the burden of which had to be borne by Tammany and was undoubtedly regretted by this great organization. During the years since that time, fully one-third of a century ago, there has been no scandal connected with the management of Tammany. Throughout the country many Democrats speak sneeringly of Tammany, which governs the City of New York, a city of over six millions of people.

"It will be observed," said the Governor, "that the Republicans with Mayor Seth Low won out once in New York City. Though they searched every department with a microscope, yet they found nothing culpable. Take, on the other hand, the Republican rulership in the great city of Philadelphia, in which city the only reason why the city hall was not stolen was because it could not get into the suit cases of the Republican managers. You never hear Republicans talking of their stealing the Presidency in 1876 when Tilden was elected. The theft of the Presidency carried with it the salaries and the prestige of all the Federal offices in the United States. You never hear the Republicans bringing up the whiskey ring stealages and other disreputable transactions associated with their former management. Still, the Democrats will continue to harp upon the mismanagement of the Tweed ring, of nearly one-third of a century ago.

Well-Governed City.

New York is about the cleanest city in the world. The record shows that it is a well-governed city. Tammany Hall is one of the greatest charitable organizations in the world. Instead of Democrats trying to decry their allied organizations, they ought to take a lesson from the management of the Republican party. When Tammany did wrong under the Tweed regime, it was Tammany itself who assisted in clearing out such a ring. The Republican party is successful, and instead of clearing out those who stole the Presidency they put them in high office. This is the difference of the two parties in their management of such affairs. Another difference is that the Democrats never forget. I believe in cleaning up rotteness in the party, but when it has been cleaned up give the party credit for what it has done.

Next National Campaign.

to 'scorn' all favoritisms and privileges' by the 'exercise of the many virtues of justice and fair play.' Such language as that is for the people at large. Everybody knows that the foundation stone of the tariff is privileges and favoritism. The Democratic party has always stood for equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

Gov. Gilchrist believes that the tariff and the putting to "scorn of all privileges and favoritism" ought to be the basis of the next platform of the Democratic party; that all side issues should be relegated to the past. "This issue," he contends, "embodies very nearly every other issue. It will be observed that the great New England protectionists always try to modify extreme protection by placing on the free list leather, Egyptian cotton and such other raw products as will benefit their business. They are never taunted with the fact that while advocating protection, they are trying to modify so much of it as will give their particular business greater privileges; in other words, turning Democrats. On the other hand, although it is quite apparent that excessive protection is to be the rule of action, yet, when a Democrat tries to get a rake-off on protection for some item such as pineapples and others, it is claimed that he has gone over to the Republicans."

The Governor on Styles.

Upon being asked if he noticed any difference in the styles of dresses worn by ladies on his travels, the Governor stated that at one place he saw a magnificently formed woman wearing a ribbon or some such thing tied under her arms, giving the appearance of making her waist come in contact almost with her chin. At another place, much farther South, there had been introduced what, upon inquiry was denominated "the new style." The effect of this new style is to make the waist appear as though it was running in competition with the knees. In other words, one style made the waist appear to be much shorter and the other style made the waist appear to be much longer than any naturalist ever imagined it could possibly be.

Worshiping a Turtle.

At a place called Kotron, on the French Ivory Coast, the natives believe that to eat or destroy a turtle would mean death to the guilty one or sickness among the family. The fetish men, of which there are plenty, declare that years ago a man went to sea fishing. In the night his canoe was thrown upon the beach empty. Three days afterward a turtle came ashore at the same place with the man on its back alive and well. Since that time they have never eaten or destroyed one of that species, although they enjoy other species.

If one happens now to be washed ashore there is a great commotion in the town. First the women sit down and start singing and beating sticks; next a small piece of white cloth (color must be white) is placed on the turtle's back. Food is then prepared and placed on the cloth, generally plantains, rice and palm oil. Then, amid a lot more singing, dancing and antics of the fetish people, it is carried back into the sea and goes on its way rejoicing.

S.S.S. NATURE'S PERFECT TONIC

Something more than an ordinary tonic is required to restore health to a weakened, run-down system; the medicine must possess blood-purifying properties as well, because the weakness and impurity of the circulation is responsible for the poor physical condition. The blood does not contain the necessary quantity of rich, red corpuscles, and is therefore a weak, watery stream which cannot afford sufficient nourishment to sustain the system in ordinary health. A poorly nourished body cannot resist disease, and this explains why so many persons are attacked by a spell of sickness when the use of a good tonic would have prevented the trouble. In S. S. S. will be found both blood-cleansing and tonic qualities combined. It builds up weak constitutions by removing all impurities and germs from the blood, thus supplying a certain means for restoring strength and invigorating the system. The healthful, vegetable ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed make it splendidly fitted to the needs of those systems which are delicate from any cause. It is Nature's Perfect Tonic, free from all harmful minerals, a safe and pleasant acting medicine for persons of every age. S. S. S. rids the body of that tired, worn-out feeling so common at this season, improves the appetite and digestion, tones up the stomach, acts with pleasing effects on the nervous system, and reinvigorates every portion of the body.

DEWITT HAGUE SUSTAINS BROKEN LEG

MULES RAN AWAY WITH FIVE IN BUGGY WEDNESDAY.

Young Man Was Taken to His Home at Alachua to Receive Treatment.

DeWitt Hague, the son of Deputy Sheriff W. C. Hague of Alachua, was thrown from a buggy near Fort White on last Wednesday and his left leg broken just above the ankle.

The young man was in company with his sisters and brother-in-law on a visit to relatives at Fort White and had started on his return home when the accident happened that will cause him much pain and annoyance for the next several weeks.

Although there were five in the vehicle at the time of the runaway, he was the only one that sustained injury and only he and one sister were thrown from the buggy, the other three remaining in the same until they had stopped the pair of mules that were pulling the vehicle.

Just what frightened the animals could not be ascertained, but after the wreck it was discovered that young Hague had sustained the injuries and it was necessary that he be taken to a physician there who has since done everything possible for the young man, and he has sufficiently recovered to be removed to his home at Alachua.

Owing to the nature of the break, it will be many weeks before he will be able to get about, and at the present time is confined to his bed. Friends sympathize with him in his misfortune and are thankful that the accident did not result more seriously with all of the occupants of the buggy.

THE OWEN CASE.

Col. W. E. Baker Writes of Appeal Made in Man's Behalf.

Editor Sun: In this morning's paper I noticed some discrepancies in your account of the Owen case, which in justice to the parties involved, call for an explanation.

As is shown by the record in the case, Mr. W. S. Broome and myself were appointed by the Hon. J. T. Wills, then presiding, to defend R. H. Owen on trial for his life.

As officers of the court, under our solemn oaths and under the rulings of the Supreme Court, it became our duty to accept the appointment, and although it carried with it no compensation, we were bound to give the insolvent defendant every opportunity for his life and liberty under the law and all the rights guaranteed to him under the State and Federal constitutions, which we swore to support and defend.

We have no right to pass upon the guilt or innocence of the accused nor to halt in our efforts in his behalf until all of his rights have been judicially determined.

With this in mind, Mr. Broome and myself agreed that a writ of error to the Supreme Court should be sued out in his behalf in that a writ of error is a writ of right, and an appeal to the Supreme Court is a part of the due process of law guaranteed by the constitution and so necessary for the administration of the law.

One party, in writing to the Governor, said, "The people here seem of the opinion that it would be right, just and proper that the law should take its course," but from rumors on the streets today some seem to chafe when the course of the law cannot be shaped in accordance with their views.

Your allusions to the participation of other parties in reference to this appeal are inaccurate because Mr. Broome and myself are his sole legal representatives and hence alone responsible for the course pursued, and if the law-abiding citizens of Alachua county have any criticisms to make upon officers of this court for doing their duty in giving a defendant full benefit of all the rights guaranteed to him, we desire that they be placed where they belong.

Respectfully,

A MAD DOG CREATES SOME EXCITEMENT

KILLED BEFORE HE DID ANY DAMAGE TO SPEAK OF.

Citizens of Newberry Joined in Chase for Dogship and Killed All Canines That Were Bitten.

The citizens of Newberry were excited over the mad-dog situation on Thursday and as a result some dozen or more dogs were killed in that place.

Fortunately the dog that was mad did not bite anyone, but made good his time in snapping at other canines during the short time he was allowed to live, and stranger still he would run around people to bite dogs, likewise cattle.

As soon as the dog was known to be mad a number of the citizens armed themselves and proceeded to run it down and kill it, as well as the dogs that it bit, so there will be no spread from the animal having bitten others.

There have been a number of mad-dogs reported in various sections of the county, but in nearly every instance they have been killed and no uneasiness is felt by the people generally.

Spontaneous Combustion.

Spontaneous combustion can only occur when oxidation causes the temperature to rise to the ignition point of the material. Spontaneous combustion of the human body is impossible on account of the heat regulating effect of the 75 or 80 per cent of water contained. The enormous heat necessary to dry the tissues sufficiently would destroy life long before ignition could take place. An old idea was that the alcohol in a confirmed drunkard might promote combustion, but Liebig showed that even if the body could give off inflammable vapor and this could become ignited the body itself would not be set on fire.

TELEPHONE TALK

The Long Distance System

One of the most valuable features of our service, to our subscribers and to the public generally, is our connection with the extensive long distance lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the other associated Bell Telephone companies.

We own thousands of miles of long distance lines in the seven States in which we operate and in addition can connect any telephone in our system with lines extending to any other city in which a Bell Telephone system is operated.

These long distance lines are of the most modern and improved construction and are maintained at a high state of efficiency. The Bell systems, operating in various sections of the country, are uniform in their equipment and in their methods of operating.

Only by reason of this close arrangement between the Bell Telephone companies is it possible to get a Bell Telephone almost anywhere and ask for "Long Distance" and be connected in communication with almost any place in the country.

This vast network of wires, stretching throughout the nation, is used daily in commerce and for social purposes by the banker, the farmer and the citizen in all walks of life. Our plant here is an important link in this great chain.

Peru's lone railroad is tied up by a general strike. Who says the South American republics are behind the times?

An increase of $92,027 in the 1909 surplus of the American Glue Company proves that prosperity is still sticking to her job.

If the recent action of the stocks of Southern railroads is any criterion, there does not seem to be much frantic apprehension over the shortage in the cotton crop.

Concrete covered by sea water for one hundred years was recently removed in the harbor at Brest, France, says Cement Age. Iron bars embedded in the concrete did not show the least indication of rust, showing that concrete is a perfect preservative of iron ore, even when placed under sea water.

A New York woman ordered a set of Charles Dickens' works at the price of $5,000. When the books were delivered she declined to pay the price for them, on the ground that they were not what it was represented they would be. The matter is now in the courts. In connection with this tremendous and extravagant price for a set of books, there is pathos in reverting to the fact that two of Dickens' grand-daughters are living in London in poverty, their whole support being pensions of $2.50 a week each from the government. They have no property rights in their grandfather's works, so the publishers can handle them as they please and make enormous profits on them, while the children of the flesh and blood of their author are compelled to subsist on crusts.—Savannah News.

A Bristol, Va., dispatch states that a dozen or more persons who it is charged by the drys in their petition to have the local option election held there July 8 set aside, had their poll taxes paid by others, have engaged counsel to file damage suits for slander against the thirty-seven signers of the petition, including some of the wealthiest temperance people in Bristol. The petition charges that more than 100 persons who voted in the election, and whose names are given, did not pay their poll taxes out of their own funds, but accepted the amount from others. The contest which followed the hot local option contest has aroused much bitterness. The drys are seeking to have the result changed so as to show a dry majority.

ROOSEVELT'S LATEST.

Expressing the opinion that the multi-millionaire is not a healthy development in this country, but at the same time giving him full credit for his energy and ability in amassing his fortune, provided he has been of benefit to his country and countrymen while he was piling up his money, former President Roosevelt has gone on record as favoring the adoption of a progressive inheritance tax, as a partial solution to the problem of centralized wealth in this country.

In a copyrighted editorial in the current issue of The Outlook, the former President says:

"Worst of all is to have great poverty, and great riches side by side in constant contrast. Nevertheless, even this contrast can be accepted if men are convinced that the riches are accumulated as a result of great service rendered to the people as a whole, and if their use is regulated in the interest of the whole community."

The movement which has become so strong during the past few years to secure on behalf of the nation both an adequate supervision of and an effective taxation of vast fortunes, so far as their business use is concerned, is a healthy movement. It aims to replace sullen discontent, restless pessimism, and evil preparation for revolution, by an aggressive, healthy determination to get at the bottom of our troubles and remedy them.

"To halt in the movement, as those blinded men wish, who care only for the immediate relief from all obstacles which would thwart their getting what is not theirs, would work wide-reaching damage. Such a halt would turn away the energies of the energetic and forceful men, who desire to reform matters, from a legitimate object into the channel of bitter and destructive agitation."

The reader of Prince Kropotkin's memoirs must be struck by the damage wrought to Russia by the unwise opponents of all reform who, by opposing every sensible movement for betterment, turned the energies of the young men, who under happier conditions would have worked for rational betterment, into the channels of a useless and destructive revolutionary movement.

"The multi-millionaire is not per se, a healthy development in this country. If his fortune rests on a basis of wrong-doing, he is far more dangerous criminal than any of the types of ordinary criminals can be. If his fortune is the result of a great service rendered, well and good; he deserves respect and reward for such service—although we must remember to pay our homage to the service itself and not to the fortune which is the mere reward for the service."

"But when his fortune is passed on to some one else, who has not rendered the service, then the nation should impose a heavily graded progressive inheritance tax, a singularly wise and unobjectionable kind of tax. It would be a particularly good thing if the tax bore heaviest on absentees."

An advance of considerable proportions in the next month or so need not necessarily imply a decline in the fall. Much will depend upon the public response. There have been times in the past when the large interests tried to force a reaction, but failed because the public took the bit in its teeth and ran away with the market, says a New York financial journal. If the public will not sell, but continues to buy, the large interests cannot resist it. They may supply stocks, but if the public takes all they have and is still eager for more the large interests may be, to a certain extent, at the mercy of the public, for the public is greater than any combination of interests that could be formed in Wall Street or elsewhere.

TELEPHONE IN NATION'S FOREST

The telephone on the National forest is not only of the greatest assistance in the management of the forest but its value is inestimable when used to report or summon help for a fire. In a single case of forest fire it may be worth the entire cost of its construction. No other work of improving the forests has been more acceptable to the residents in their vicinity.

In the summer of 1905 Secretary Wilson and United States Forester Gifford Pinchot, after going over large areas of little developed and almost unexplored National forest lands, decided that systems of telephones, with proper connections would be invaluable on the forests of the West.

It was not until sometime later, however, when Congress made a specific appropriation for the improvement of the National forests, that funds were available for this purpose. Last year 3,200 miles of telephone lines were constructed on the 148 National forests in the West, and were to build about 400 miles of additional line was shipped to the various forests, but with the funds on hand the work of construction could not be completed.

A town in Southern Utah, with about 1,000 inhabitants, was isolated four-days' ride from the nearest railroad station until a telephone line was built by the Forest Service across the mountainous country for forty miles, thus connecting the town, the headquarters of the forest, and several ranger cabins with the telegraph station.

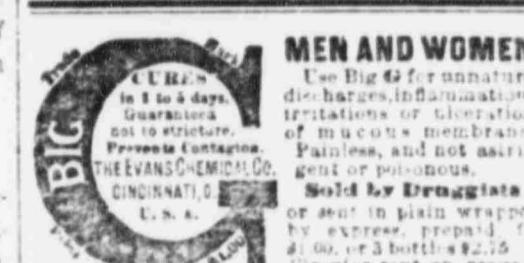

From two to five ranger stations are now connected with the supervisor's office on many of the National forests, and by the use of phones in the homes of settlers centrally located, other points on the forest are reached. The marked saving in time otherwise required for a trip of from twenty to forty miles is evident.

On some forests "lookout stations" have been established to which a wire is run and a man stationed in the vicinity, so that he can climb the point of vantage several times each day and with his glass sweep over the landscape in every direction, quickly scanning an area of two or three hundred thousand acres. It is by such plans that fire patrol and fire control have been established on the National forests with an exceedingly small protective force, and damage from fire has been reduced to a minimum.

If its worth more to someone else than to you—no matter what it is—a want ad will be a good investment.

NATURE AS A CHEMIST.

Facts Which the Highest Experts of Science Cannot Rival.

The bursting forces of springtime illustrate nature as a chemist who performs feats which the highest attitude of science cannot hope to rival. In a leaf the living master is his chemist, and the earth is his laboratory. By daylight the leaf chemist is absorbing the carbonic acid gas and is decomposing this gas into its component elements—carbon and oxygen. The carbon it is retaining as part of the plant's food to enter into combination with water, and the oxygen it sets free into the atmosphere. By night this process ceases, for light is an essential feature in the operation.

Out of the carbon and the water the leaf chemist will elaborate the sugars and starches which the plant yields. As surely the products will pass from the leaf to be stored up in the case of the potato, for example, so as to afford a storehouse of food whereon the plant may draw for its sustenance and for the development of its leaves and flowers when occasion comes. All the vegetable essences and acids, the scents and charms, the juices which yield health rather than disease of fruits and even the color of the flowers are similarly the products of constructive chemistry which beats man's best efforts to imitate. Man follows nature, but at a distance.—Chicago Tribune.

Baked Tamale.

Boil until tender one small chicken or that amount of any tender meat. The meat from soup bones is fine used this way, and veal is as good as chicken. In fact, you can use to advantage any tender leftover meat. Strain on the broth, remove the bones and break into small pieces. Put into a frying pan two tablespoonfuls of lard or drippings and when hot add two tablespoonfuls of flour and let brown a little. Then add the meat, salted to taste, with one cupful of broth and two tablespoonfuls of chili powder. Stir and cook ten minutes. Set off to cool and add a small cupful of raisins (whole) and about the same of olives. Now make a stiff batter of three cupfuls of cornmeal and one of flour, salted, into which is rubbed three-quarters of a cupful of lard or drippings, moistened with one beaten egg and one cupful of broth. Line a deep pan with the batter and bake one hour.—Delinquent Corp., Sole Prop., Boston, Mass.

CHILD'S DREADFUL SKIN TROUBLES

Had Sixty Boils when but Six Months Old—Was Annually Attacked by a Humor—It Looked Red Like a Scald and Spread Over Half Her Head—Both Troubles are Cured.

NO PRAISE TOO HIGH FOR THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"When my little Vivian was about six months old, her papa had a boil on his forehead. At that time the child was covered with prickly heat and I suppose in scratching it, her own head became infected for it broke out in boils, one after another. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her of them entirely. Then, sometime later, her little foot got sore between the toes. Being afraid it was salt rheum, I spoke to our doctor. He gave me a powder which dried it up, but soon after it broke out behind her ears. They cracked half way around and the humor spread up on to her head until, on several occasions, it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every year. I think it was toward the spring. I always bathed it with warm water and Cuticura Soap and applied Cuticura Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out was when she was six years old. It became so bad that I was discouraged. Then I procured a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent which soon cleared it out of her blood. I continued the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment with the Resolvent until she was perfectly well. She is now about eight years old and has never been troubled in the last two years. We also find Cuticura Resolvent a good spring medicine and we are just giving the children Cuticura Resolvent Pills as a tonic. We do not think any one can praise Cuticura Remedies too highly. Mrs. M. A. Scherwin, 674 Spring Wells Ave., Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24, 1908."

Food of the Chinese.

In the Revue d'Hygiene Dr. Malegnon, who lived for many years in China, gives some curious details of the food of the Chinese. This is what he says of the sons of heaven and the way they eat eggs: "The Chinese are great eaters of eggs, which they take hard boiled. One finds them in all the roadside places for refreshment. The Celestials have an expression, 'Eggs of a hundred years.' The eggs are not always a century in age, but one is able to get them of many years' standing. The Celestials have a preference for the egg of the duck or goose. They are placed with aromatic herbs in slaked lime for a period, the minimum time of treatment being five or six weeks. Under the influence of time the yolk liquefies and takes a dark green color. The white coagulates and becomes green. The product of the eggs, which has a strong odor, from which a stranger betakes himself quickly, the Chinese eat as hors d'oeuvres, and it is said to have the taste of lobster."

Expense No Object.

During an inclement spell of weather a lady of the order of the newly rich was so unfortunate as to contract a painful affection of the throat, and she accordingly accepted the advice of a friend that she consult a great London specialist noted for his expensive fees.

"Your ailment is not a serious one," said the specialist after examination. "You'll soon be all right. I'll just indicate to your family surgeon precisely where to touch your throat with nitrate of silver, and I think that will meet the case exactly."

"Oh, doctor," protested the wealthy matron in a tone of mingled surprise and indignation, "do order him to use nitrate of gold! Expense is a matter I assure you quite immaterial to me!"—London Answers.

Many people with chronic throat and lung trouble have found comfort and relief in Foley's Honey and Tar, as it cures stubborn coughs after other treatment has failed. L. M. Ruggles, Reasnor, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It stopped the hemorrhages and pain in my lungs and they are now as sound as a bullet." J. W. McCollum & Co.

TAKE CARE OF THE BABY

MISPLACED CONFIDENCE.

The Victim Said Nothing, but Did a Heap of Thinking.

At a railway station the other day "a gentleman from the country" yielded to the pressing solicitation of a penniless boy and bought a penny weekly paper.

But here was a difficulty—a shilling no change and the engine of the train giving unmistakable evidence of speedy departure.

The bargain was about to be canceled when the boy volunteered to get the shilling changed into pence.

"But," said the gent, "perhaps you will not return with the 11 pence."

The boy's face wore an injured look.

"If you are afraid to trust me, sir," said he, and there was the least trace of emotion in his voice, "you can have the other eleven copies as security."

Something suspiciously like moisture came into the old man's eyes as he glanced into the bright, open countenance of the boy, and he felt heartily ashamed of himself as he mechanically held out his hand for the remaining eleven copies.

He watched the little fellow as he trotted down the platform till he salled round a corner and was lost to sight.

Fifteen seconds later the engine gave a final shriek, and the train slowly gilded out of the station.

The man glanced round at his fellow passengers and handed a copy of the paper to each one from his pile.

He said nothing, but he seemed to be thinking.—London Tit-Bits.

MOUNTAIN OF BORAX.

A Deposit of Great Value In Heart of Death Valley.

With the exception of the Grand canyon there is probably no more famous locality in the west than Death valley, known as the "vale below the sea," and, although there are a number of Mount Blancos in the Great American desert, the Mount Blanco of Death valley is the greatest of its name.

It rises like an enormous white breast against the terra cotta ridge of Funeral range, close to Furnace Creek canyon, a great rent that cleaves the east rampart of Death valley. Around it is rolling waste of bald yellow hills, none of which is a mere knoll, and it towers a good 1,000 feet above them. The lowland of Death valley, sinking for several miles westward, is probably 2,500 feet lower.

No one ledge or series of ledges anywhere in the world contains the immense amount of borate quartz shown in the surface of this mountain of colemanite. It is a body of ore measuring 1,000 feet in width and 5,000 feet in length, pitching into the mountain range at a thirty-three degree angle. It is a borax quarry whose limitations cannot be even roughly conjectured, but it must exceed by thousands of tons any known borate deposit.—Detroit News.

VERSAILLES.

The Old Royal Palace Is Now an Art Gallery and Museum.

Versailles is about twelve miles from Paris, but all the intervening country is built up, and it seems almost as if a distant part of the city.

Here was one of the great royal palaces much frequented by the kings and especially by Louis XIV, and all those who came after him. Its gardens and forests are beautiful, and the old palace is now kept as an art gallery and museum and filled with pictures and statues, much of the old furniture formerly used by the royal occupants remaining as when they used it. Some of the most dramatic events of the revolution occurred here. The entire property belongs to and is cared for by the government of France and is open to the public without fees.

Twenty-five miles north of Paris is Chantilly, the ancestral home of the Prince de Conde, the great Conde, which in olden times vied with the royal palaces in the grandeur of its entertainments and the distinguished character of its guests.

The last owner of the property, the Duc d'Aumale, willed this fine estate to France, so that its palace, with its magnificent art treasures, and the great forest are now for the enjoyment of all.—Paris Letter to Denver Post.

Troubles Due to Legacy.

We have never known any good to come of a legacy. Henry got $500 in the mail one day, and his troubles began on the spot. He bought a horse. The horse kicked one of the children and ran away, breaking up an eighty dollar buggy. Henry sold the animal for half what he had paid for it and bought him an amber stemmed pipe and a gasoline route with the remains of his fortune. The first day out he bit the stem of his pipe in two, the falling sparks set the gasoline afire, and the wagon was entirely consumed. To comfort himself Henry sat drunk, and that night he fell off the bridge into the creek, ruining his best suit of clothes. When the legacy got through with him he was $33 in the hole.—Newark News.

Chicken Homicide.

A country lad after in the course of his dining out on the circuit came to a house where a roast chicken was served for dinner. He had previously encountered a series of no corned beef dinners, and the chicken looked good to him.

"Well," he facetiously remarked, "here's where that chicken enters the ministry."

"Hope it does better there than in my work," rejoined the small boy of the family.—Boston Record.

ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 3

How to Write Retail Advertising Copy

By Herbert Kaufman.

A skilled layer of mosaics works with small fragments of stone—they fit into more places than the larger chunks.

The skilled advertiser works with small words—they fit into more minds than big phrases.

The simpler the language the greater certainty that it will be understood by the least intelligent reader.

The construction engineer plans his roadbed where there is a minimum of grade—he works along the lines of least resistance.

The advertisement which runs into mountainous style is badly surveyed—all minds are not built for high level thinking.

Advertising must be simple. When it is tricked out with the jewelry and silks of literary expression it looks as much out of place as a ball dress at the breakfast table!

The buying public is only interested in facts. People read advertisements to find out what you have to sell.

The advertiser who can fire the most facts in the shortest time gets the most returns. Blank cartridges make noise but they do not hit—blank talk, however clever, is only wasted space.

You force your salesmen to keep to solid facts—you don't allow them to sell muslin with quotations from Omar or trousers with excerpts from Marie Corelli. You must not tolerate in your printed selling talk anything that you are not willing to countenance in personal salesmanship.

Cut out clever phrases if they are inserted to the sacrifice of clear explanations—write copy as you talk. Only be more brief. Publicity is costlier than conversation—ranging in price downward from $6.00 a line, talk is not cheap but the most expensive commodity in the world.

Sketch in your ad to the stenographer. Then you will be so busy "saying it" that you will not have time to bother about the gewgaws of writing. Afterwards take the type-written manuscript and cut out every word and every line that can be erased without omitting an important detail. What remains in the end is all that really counted in the beginning.

Cultivate brevity and simplicity. "Savon Francais" may look smarter, but more people will understand "French Soap." Sir Isaac Newton's explanation of gravitation covers six pages, but the schoolboy's terse and homely "What goes up must come down" clinches the whole thing in six words.

(Copyright, 1909, by Tribune Company, Chicago.)

"That Which Is Worth Having Is Worth Advertising For"

The old adage that what is worth having is worth asking for is still true—true of the more intricate life of today.

The thing you want—whether it is a used piano or a home, whether it is a ready-made business or a lost pocket-book—is obtained readily through advertising, and with difficulty, or not at all, through other means.

GAINESVILLE, — THE — University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops; in the heart of the truck-growing, phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida, with large and consistent congregations, has a climate which cannot be excelled for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.

There are many natural attractions in close proximity to the city, some of which are Alachua Sink, Paine's Prairie, the Devil's Mill Hopper, Warren's Cave and Lake Newnan, all of which are reached by private conveyance.

Spring Park Stock Farm, the largest and finest live stock farm in the State, is only eight miles west of the city and is reached by a good hard road, affording most pleasant drive.

The farmers of Alachua county, of which Gainesville is the county seat, "live at home and board at the same place." The temperature is very uniform, scarcely ever reaching the nineties in summer or the twenties in winter. The population of Gainesville is about eight thousand, representing nearly every nationality on the face of the earth, and strangers always meet with a hearty welcome.
